ART . . .

Body Beautiful has the sub-title "Studies in Masculine Art" and the word ART is accepted these days as embracing all forms of pictorial representation . . . not merely painting and sculpture. So it happens that the pages of these magazines are more often filled with photographs than actual works of art. However in this issue we have a detail (above) from a painting by Lloyd Steel, available from Box 9264, Metairie, La, U.S.A., and the back cover painted by Natelli of MacLane Studios, along with the usual brilliantly executed work by David Angelo on page 65 and an insight into the way the artist works on page 28. Thus we try to live up to our title.

PAT BURNHAM

BILL BROOMES

by Western Photography Guild

G

Pat Burnham

Aged 21, and already twice winner of the Rocky Mountain AAU 132-pound weightlifting championship, Pat is truly one of WPG's Men to Match, the Mountains. He does much of his training in his garage where a lot of his equipment he made himself. He is an avid wood-worker and skier, and counts target-shooting and raising tropical fish among his other active pursuits. He has a large collection of guns . . . and classical records; obviously a very complete personality.

●

Bill Broomes

Bill is also 21 and serving in the U.S. Air Force. A winner of the Mr. Colorado Title he keeps very regular work-outs and possesses outstanding arms, back and overall muscularity. Bill is married with several children . . . also a very well-rounded personality.

The

Devereau Story

At 21 Roger Devereau's theatrical credits reads like a list of the best plays of the century. An enviable record in the entertainment business.

Is this degree of success due to the fact that he is 5ft. 10in. tall and weighs 155lbs. and that he has brown eyes and black hair and that his body is particularly well proportioned?

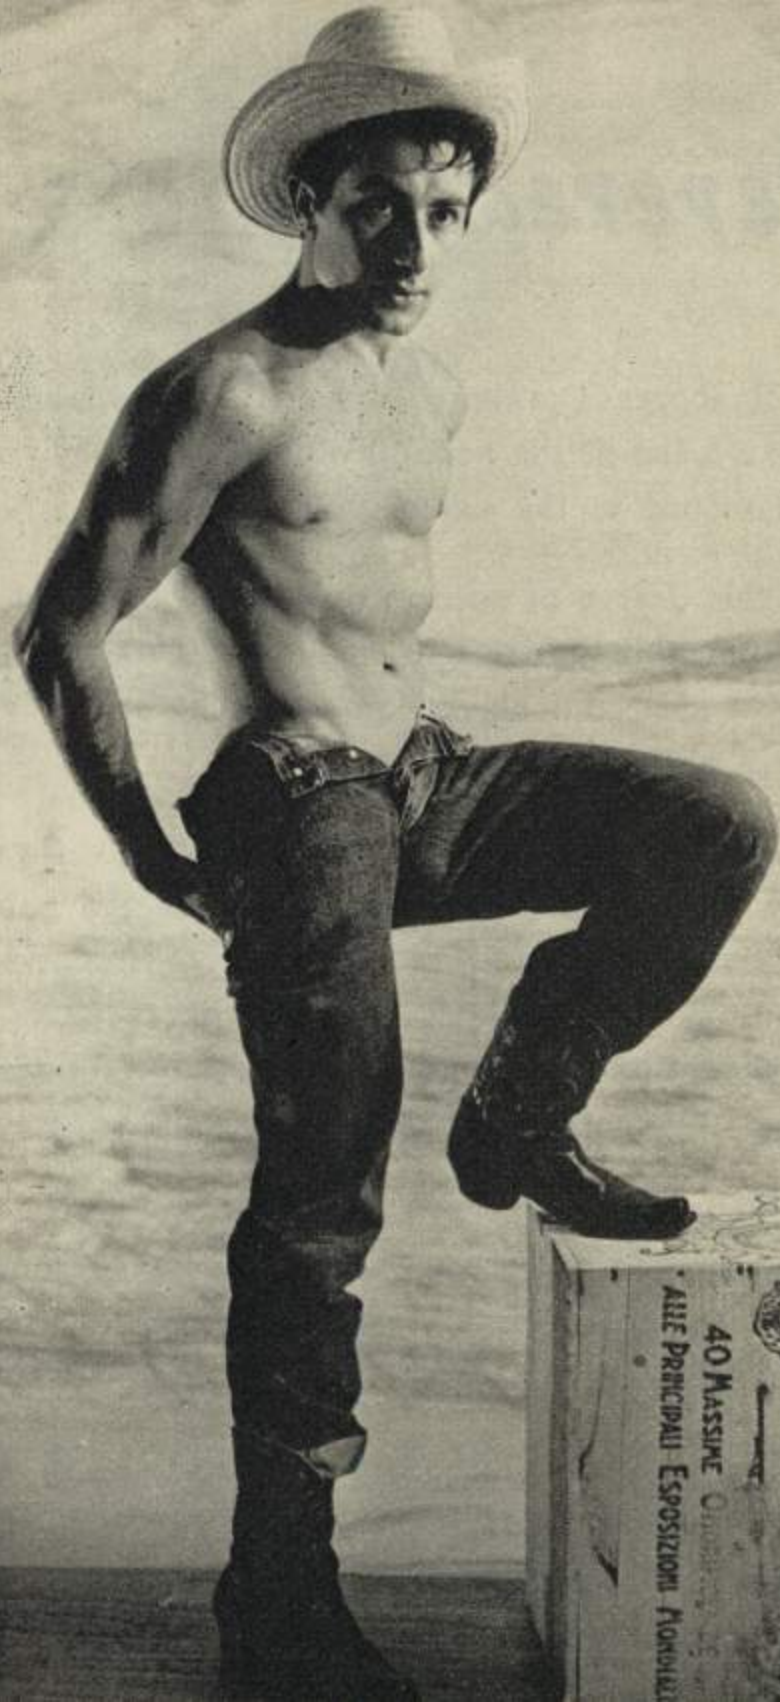

No. There is much more to Roger than will ever be shown in a still photograph. He has a dynamic drive that wears out all of his friends. He is never quite satisfied. He is sincerely appreciative of favors done him and it takes a lot of doing to reach the climax of a career in the dramatic arts.

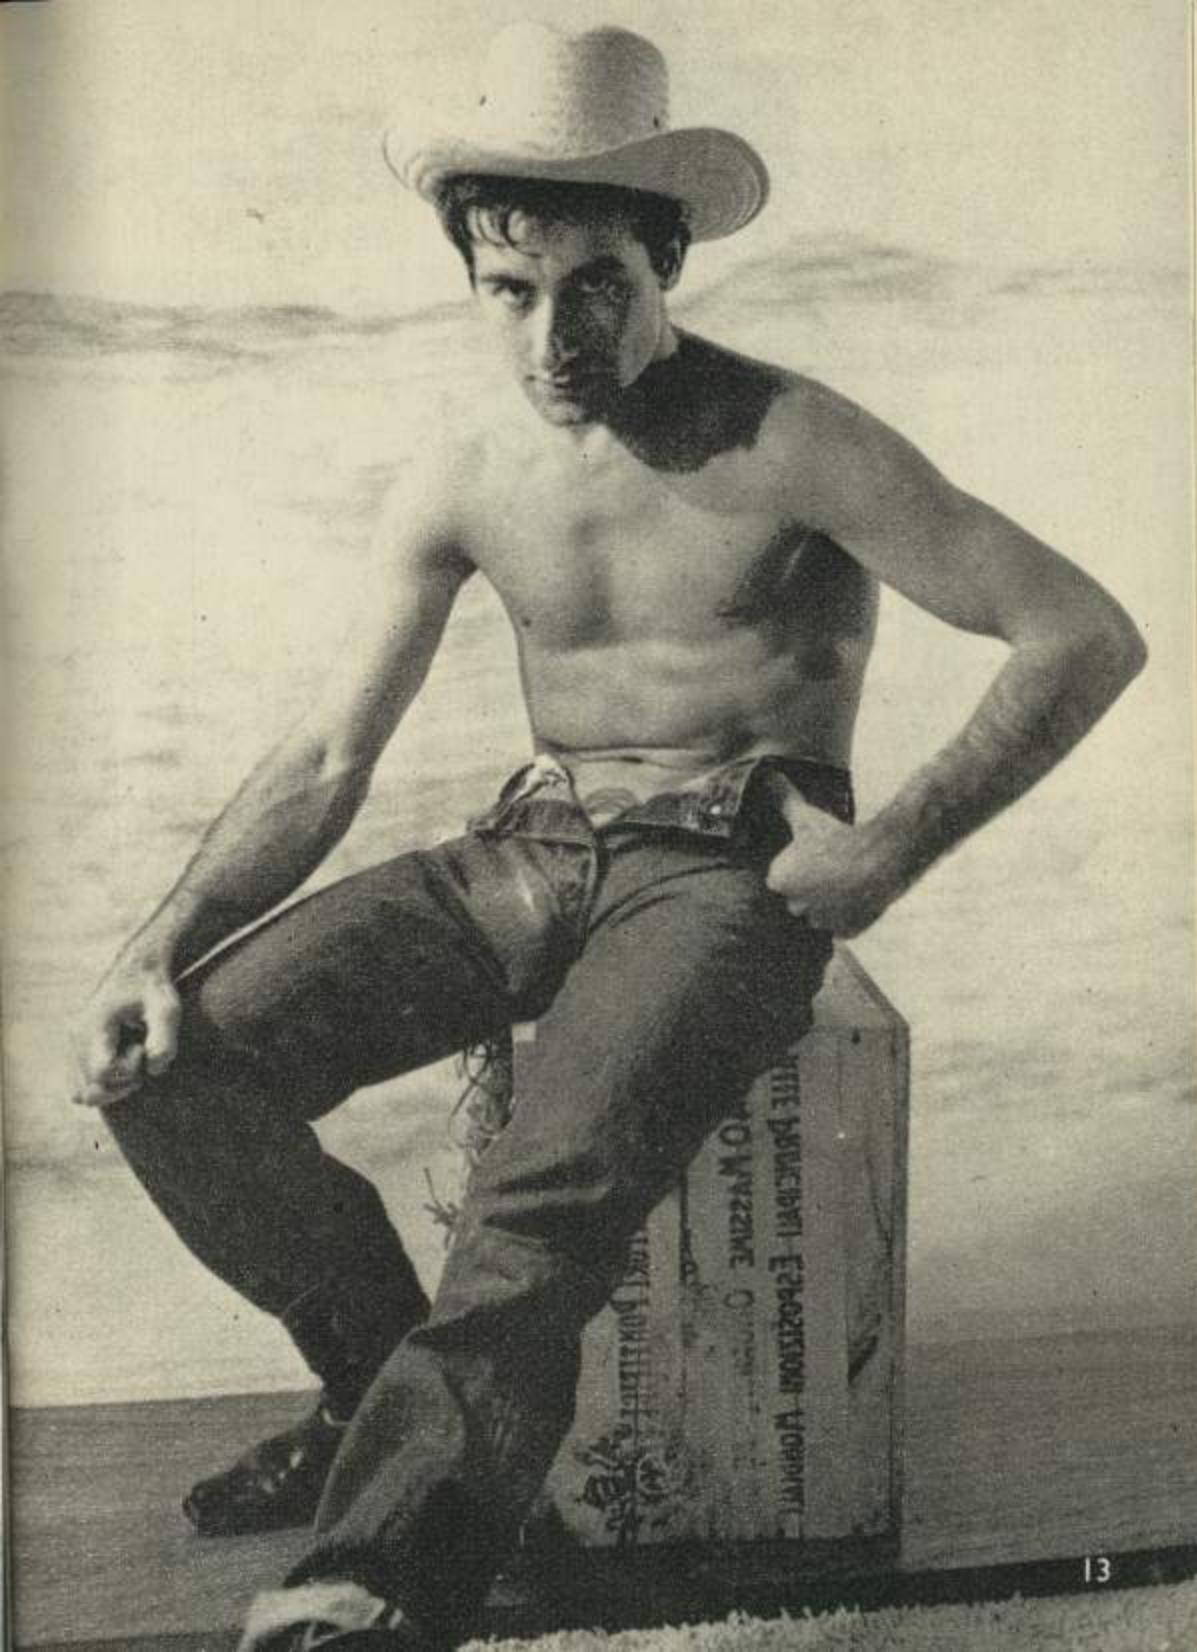

Stage — T.V., live and filmed — Movies — Summer Stock — are all a part of Roger's background, and this background is rapidly growing.

You must excuse the play on words, but here we have another unusual set of pictures from London's famous Royale Studios in which again the photographer seems to have caught his model in exactly the poses most suited to his type of build—an ideal synthesis between artist and subject.

RAY TAYLOR
by Natelli
of MacLane Studios

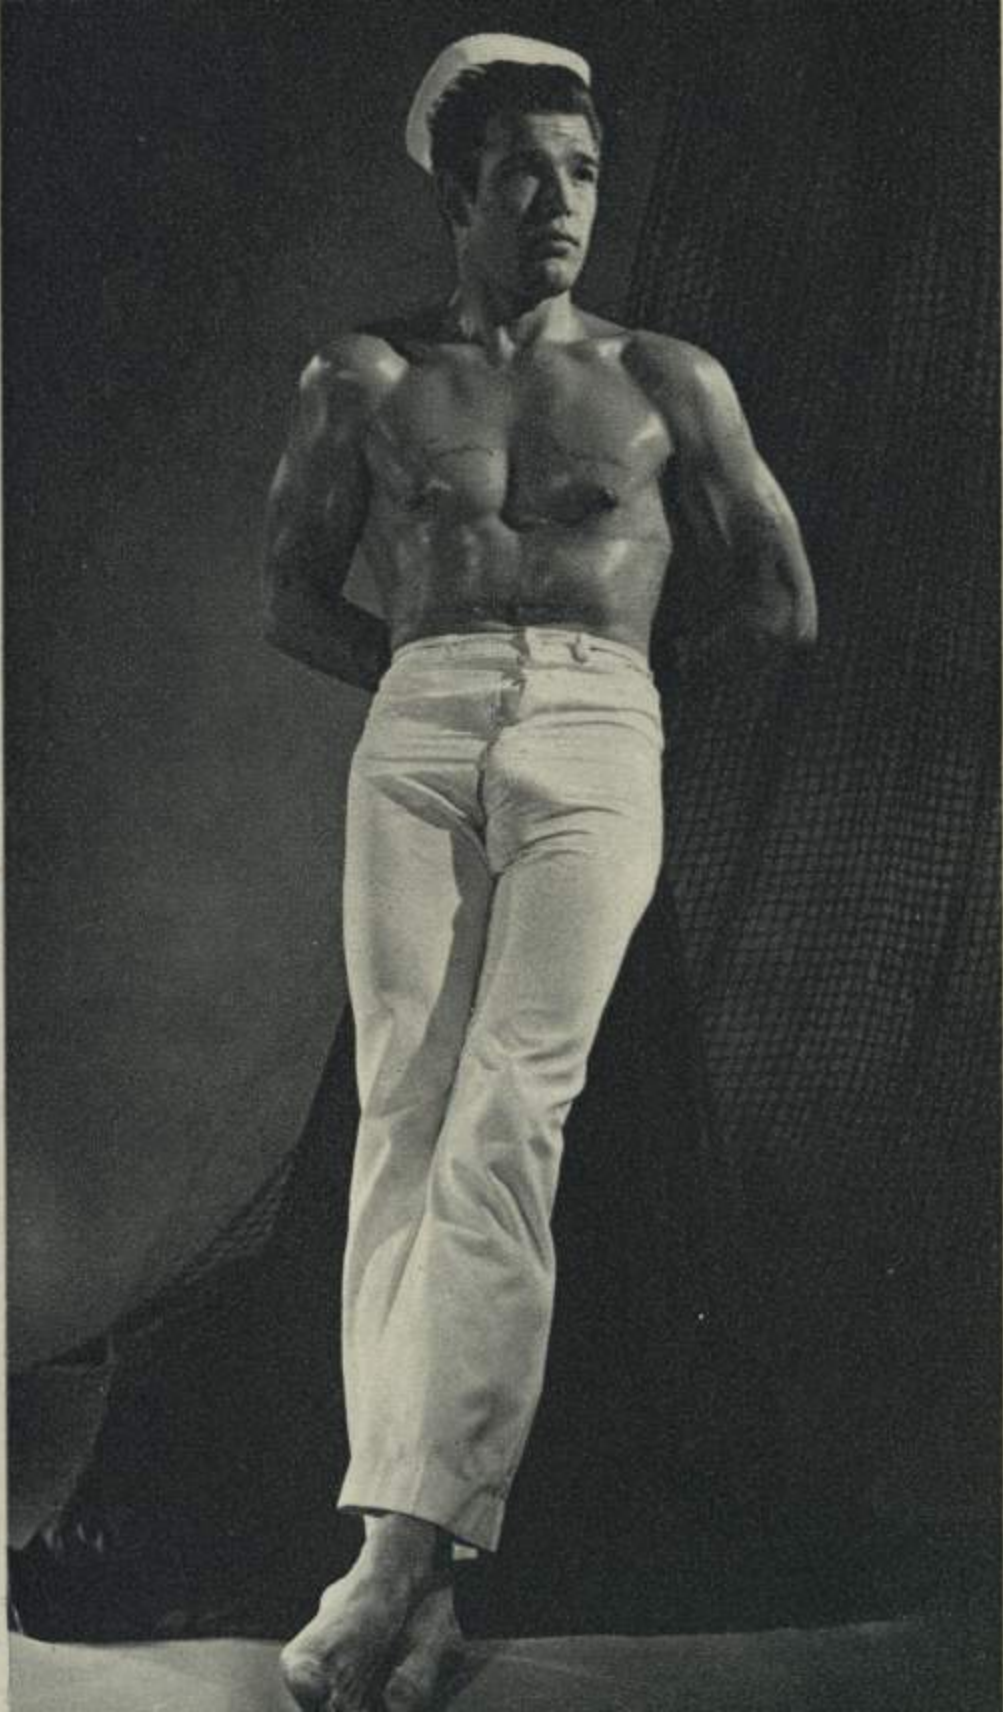

Ray Taylor ranks as one of MacLane's most popular models, which seems perfectly understandable with his natural ideally proportioned build, and a vibrant personality which glows from each photo. He is perhaps one of the most patient and experienced of models to appear in these pages, since MacLane has been famous till now for its Artwork alone. We welcome their branching out into the wider field of Physique Photography, with the camera work by Natelli.

J-ROME

meets the artist

Like most people the artist wants life to seem just a little more exciting and wonderful than perhaps it really is. Therefore, when in his mind his models leave just a little something to be desired or cannot hold over a long period of time the position he wishes to illustrate, he may sometimes photograph them and then work from these photographs, one of which is illustrated in the upper left hand corner. Unlike the photographer, however, who must be satisfied with what appears on the developed film as his finished product, the artist is able to make modifications and conceive an even more exciting presentation. In the illustrations here the original photograph has evolved into two able frogmen engaged in an underwater combat in "Skin to Skin," one of a group of four from a series originated by J-Rome and titled "Armed Forces." Further details on this series may be found on page 62.

DICK DURANT by Apollo

Dick Durant is an Actor and obviously the epitome of cheery good humor. Indeed, so enthusiastic were we about the air of fun and happiness that bubbles through his personality, that we have used pictures of Dick across the center-pages and the two following. When this copy is often written months before publication with the rain pouring down from a bleak February sky, it does our morale a power of good to stumble across lads like Dick Durant.

MIKE FACCHIANO

NEW

Bernie Charles Studio

Bernie Charles Studio is pretty new to these pages but they tell us their model Mike Facchiano is still their most popular lad five years after his pictures first appeared in their lists. That's clearly deserved popularity; Mike has jet black hair, brown eyes and a solid frame of 47in. chest and 32in. waist, and has most appealing posing ability. Let's have some more . . .

Mr. America — 1st and 2nd, 1958

A black and white photograph of a male bodybuilder, Lynn Lynan, standing in a full-body pose. He is shirtless, wearing only black posing trunks with a white logo on the waistband. His arms are raised and bent at the elbows, showing off his biceps and shoulders. His legs are spread apart, showing off his quadriceps and calves. He is standing on a small, ornate trophy stand. The background is a textured, mottled grey.
